

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

neys and destinations contrast with Mr. Faris' method, and throw into relief his art of picturing for us whole sections of the country.

HELEN D. GOODWIN

The Plains and the Rockies: A Contribution to the Bibliography of Original Narratives of Travel and Adventure, 1800-1865. By HENRY R. WAGNER. (San Francisco: John Howell, 1920. Pp. 174. $10.00.)

To students, librarians, and alike to buyers and sellers of books, this new bibliography prepared by Mr. H. R. Wagner of Berkeley, California, will prove most useful. It contains but 349 numbered items but gives such full and scholarly annotations regarding each title included that it will take its place as one of the standard bibliographies of the West.

In scope, the work is limited to original editions of original narratives of travel and adventure within the region from the Missouri river to the Pacific Ocean. The author is an enthusiastic and discriminating collector and he has drawn upon his own library for most of the items listed, the remainder being taken from his list of "Wants." The result is a volume of great interest and value with notes of unusual fullness and individuality.

The arrangement is chronological, a fact not readily apparent, as the dates are made a part of the collation in ordinary type. Had the dates been justified to left margin, preceding authors' names, such provision would have facilitated the use of the book. Each item is numbered and an author and title index is provided referring rightly to these numbers in preference to page.

A goodly proportion of the titles relate fundamentally to the Pacific Northwest and a few are rarities that are practically unknown to the libraries of this region. The price of the volume may prevent its purchase by the smaller libraries whose support is never equal to immediate demands, but the more important reference libraries will gladly secure this important book. The value of a bibliography must be rated, not by the page, but by its service as a reference tool. Every possible inducement should be given to the preparation of scholarly lists such as Mr. Wagner has furnished.

The volume was printed during the author's absence in the East and a few copies distributed before his return. On discovering numerous typographical errors, Mr. Wagner promptly suppressed the edition and orders for the book are being held against a re-printing under the author's personal supervision.

CHARLES W. SMITH